HIT RX SUMMER CAMP

This camp will help build foundational skills for both hitting and fielding. During our camp, we will gain an understanding of the players needs for both hitting and fielding through the Hit RX process. This consists of a "diagnosis" phase that allows us to see what a player needs to work on mechanically to improve their hitting and fielding technique. After the "diagnosis" phase, we will "prescribe" a hitting and fielding regiment for that individual to use not only during the camp, but for afterwards as well.

Each day of hitting will consist of drills, soft toss, and on field batting practice. Each day of fielding will consists of drills, position work, and infield and outfield routine.

Day one: Hitting and fielding analysis

Day two: Hitting (lower half circuit). Fielding (upper and lower half).

Day three: Hitting (lower half circuit). Fielding (upper and lower half).

Day four: Hitting (upper half circuit). Fielding (upper and lower half circuits).

*Malcolm Frazier is a hitting coach and contracts out of Milwaukee Baseball Academy & Beckum Stapleton Little League. He played junior college baseball at the College of Lake County where he made the all conference and regional team. After two years there, he decided to join the US Navy and served for five years. His love for the game has brought him back to baseball and his passion to help kids become the best version of themselves as players keeps him dedicated to continuously seek knowledge.
